Election of 2015 PVSSD Officers: Nominations were received for the 2015 Officer positions. John motioned for Mary Esther to remain as Chair, Jeff seconded that motion and all else were in Favor. Jeff then motioned for Dall to continue for another term as Vice Chair, Herman seconded that motion and all else were in favor.

Board Member Reports:
Dall Winn: Dall has submitted to the County the names of Bruce Bergeson and Herman Nordbruch for possible candidates to fill the openings in the Board of the PVLAD. He is waiting to hear back from the County. If anyone else has a suggestion of a candidate, please get with Dall or have them contact the County Commissioner's Office. * The Irrigation Company has been paid $17,900 in December for the outstanding fire hydrant bill. That leaves another $10,000 due to them, which George says can be paid any time. Allan asked if those costs can be assessed to new home owners. The answer is that new home builders are already charged an Impact Fee that comes to the PVSSD. Steve added that there are still homes on the west end of the Valley that are too far away from fire hydrants and he suggested that the Board consider installing a few more in that area. The Code used to be that a house was no further that 1000 feet from a hydrant, but the Code has changed to now be no more than 200 feet from a hydrant. We need to add more to close that gap. Dall asked to Steve to submit a report on hydrant suggestions and needs for the Board to consider.
Jeff: Jeff has noticed that the road leading past and up from the Brandin' Irion Steak House gets very muddy. He will call the County Road Department and see if they can add some road base to that area. John added that in the past there has been concern about the elevation of that road if more base were to be added. * Dean from the County has been terrific about keeping our roads in shape compared to other years. It has also been noted how wonderful the asphalt chipping on the roads has been.
Herman: N/A
John: There have been a lot of people sledding and parking in the Forestry Camp Ground area, even though it is "closed" for the winter. Since the reservoir hills have now been restricted, people are sledding all over the place. When Bevin was still with us, he had proposed a sledding hill in the overflow "bowl" area of the campsites, but it was never completed because they decided it was too rocky for safe sledding. * Bridges are now installed at the campground. * John was concerned about the size and outside décor of the new house that is going in across from Mark Well's house. He felt it was not at all inline with the historical or pristine rural flavor of Pine Valley. John questioned whether or not we could make suggestions to the contractors or home owners when we sign off on building permits. Steve said that the only thing we are allowed to sign about is height restrictions on the house because of fire standards. George added that even though height is the only thing we can comment on as far as the building plans (per the County), we need to continue to sign the plans in order to make sure we get our Impact Fees. It was asked what has been done with the Rural Preservation plan that Kevin Keyes had been working on, but no one on the Board has been updated on that. John believes that all of us should take heart in trying to find a way to preserve our mountain, rural, and historical look for the homes in Pine Valley. John was going to contact Kurt Gardner (County Building Inspector) to see if there was any input we could give or guidelines that can be given to new home builders.

Fire Chief: See Gerald's December report. Gerald read a report from the newspaper about cities being sued because of sledding accidents; so many cities are being forced to now ban any sledding. Leslie Jennings counted 150 sledders on the hill on her street one afternoon. Rachel Herpel had to call Gerald to come help her because she couldn't get out of her driveway because of sledders and their vehicles. Sadly, we do not have the power to tell people that they cannot come to Pine Valley to sled, only the County can place those restrictions. We have gone to the County before with our concerns, but they most often turn a deaf ear.

Treasurer Report: See George's Profit & Loss statements for December 2014 and also for the entire 2014 year. * The 2015 budget has been forwarded to the State Auditor. * Doug Labrum has our insurance to review. * The Fire Station need a new copy machine.

John motioned to adjourn the meeting at 7:17 p.m.
